

myFreeFit Privacy Policy

myFreeFit.com does not share or sell any information provided by users. Information provided by you will be used solely for myFreeFit.com purposes including and limited to providing personalized workout and nutrition plans, personalized progress reports, and personalized newsletters. myFreeFit.com will never, for any reason, share or sell your information to other parties. (Party and Parties refers to any entity other than myFreeFit.com) Upon cancelling your account, all information and history within will be permanently deleted from our database and not shared or sold to any other party. This privacy policy and all statements within are subject to change at any time and may not reflect or be current with recent updates.